First Family Is Expecting Third Child

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President and Mrs. Kennedy are expecting their third child in August and are elated.

The vacation White House announced the news Monday and said the First Lady, 33, is in good health but will cancel her official activities.

Thus the President, 45, joins his two younger brothers in the waiting game. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's wife Ethel is expecting their eighth child in June. Joan, wife of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is awaiting their third in August.

Not since the days of Grover Cleveland has a First Family had such an announcement to make. Cleveland was the father of five. One daughter, Esther, was the first child born to a president in office. She was born in the White House on Sept. 9, 1893.

The Kennedys have been obviously elated at the prospect of another child and their good humor has been evident during their Easter holiday at this Florida resort community.

With them are their children, Caroline, 5, and John Jr., 2.

There had been persistent rumors in recent weeks that Mrs. Kennedy might be pregnant because since late December she has virtually given up her favorite sports of horseback riding and water skiing.

But, when White House press secretary Pierre Salinger announced that he would hold a special 5:30 p.m. news briefing, the press corps speculated on such weighty topics as steel price rises and the President's forthcoming trip to Europe.

It took all by surprise when Salinger read this statement:

"The White House announced today that Mrs. Kennedy is expecting a baby in the latter half of August. Mrs. Kennedy has maintained her full schedule for the past few months. Because of this active schedule, her physicians have now advised her to cancel all her official activities."

Among the official activities was Mrs. Kennedy's expected trip with the President to Italy this summer.

She will spend this summer at Cape Cod with her children. She expects to return to Washington for the birth of the baby which will be delivered by Caesarean section.

The First Lady, who has a history of miscarriages, has obviously been taking it easy in recent months, but her health and condition were reported to be fine.

The principal physician attending her has been Dr. John W. Walsh, a Washington obstetrician who delivered John Jr. when he was born prematurely at Georgetown University Hospital in Washington in the early morning hours of Nov. 25, 1960, the day after Thanksgiving. Kennedy, just elected president but still not in office, rushed back from the start of a Palm Beach vacation.

Caroline was born in New York on Nov. 27, 1957.

For Mrs. Kennedy, the forthcoming birth will be her fifth Caesarean section.

Both Caroline and John Jr. were delivered by Caesarean. Also Mrs. Kennedy had an emergency Caesarean in 1955 when a baby was born dead a month prematurely.

Big Recreation Center Levelled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A fire that brought volunteer fire departments from all sections of northeastern Franklin County destroyed the 21-lane Linden Bowling and Recreation Center early today.

Six persons were in the building when the fire broke but escaped without injury.

Firemen were first called to the lanes at 1:28 a.m. but could find no fire. At 1:58 they were summoned again and this time flames were shooting from the rear of the building when they arrived.

There were several explosions during the 2½ hours that firemen fought the blaze. No estimate of the loss has been made.

Colomet Purchases Additional 288 Acres South of Circleville

Colomet, Inc., a subsidiary of Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co., yesterday completed its second purchase of land south of Circleville in less than a week.

Purchased from George and Alma Crites were two tracts of land totaling 288 acres. As was the case in last week's purchase of Jefferson Farms from Dewey Speakman, the land has been earmarked for industrial purposes.

Yesterday's purchase now gives

Colomet a total of 475 acres south of the city. The land acquired from Speakman amounted to 187 acres. One of the tracts purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Crites, et al., is in Circleville Twp. and predominantly in the Circleville School District. The other is in Pickaway Twp. (Logan Elm School District).

THE TRACT in Circleville Twp., obtained from Mrs. Crites, consists of 162 acres, according to Colomet. It is bordered on the east by the N&W Railroad, on the north by the Meinhardt M. Crites farm, on the west by U. S. Route 23 and on the south by the May farm and land purchased last year by a subsidiary of South - Central Rural Electric Cooperative.

The area in Pickaway Twp., purchased from George Crites, et al., consists of 126 acres. It is bounded on the east by Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. land, on the north by the PPG Road, on the west by Route 23 and on the south by the Dearth property.

Surveying and test drillings have been made at all three sites purchased by Colomet. Electric company officials said firms have looked at the proposed industrial areas, but none has voiced a decision for purchase at this time.

Land south of Circleville and adjacent to Route 23 has drawn concentrated interest from both the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric and South - Central Rural Cooperative. In July of last year the Miller Development Co., a subsidiary of South - Central, purchased nearly 300 acres generally north and west of the

Navy Rescue Chief Declines To Reveal Theory about Sub

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — The admiral in charge of rescue operations the first three days after the nuclear submarine Thresher sank in the Atlantic testified today he had formed an opinion as to the cause of the sinking. But he added, "It is nothing I care to state in open session."

Rear Adm. Lawson P. Ramage was the day's first witness before a Navy court of inquiry attempting to find the cause of the disaster.

Ramage, deputy commander of the Atlantic Fleet submarine force, told the court neither he or other top officers in the search and rescue phase was aware until two days later Thresher had radioed information about a "minor difficulty."

Ramage said he learned of the Thresher's radio message on April 12 after the navigator of the rescue ship Skylark was transferred to the admiral's ship to be brought ashore to testify.

Navigator Lt. (J.G.) James C. Watson earlier told the court the last clear message from Thresher was: "Experiencing minor difficulty. Have positive up angle. Attempting to blow."

Ramage said that even if he had learned about Thresher's last message it could not have changed search and rescue plans that went into immediate effect. "The initial evaluation, however, would have been made sooner," he said.

It had been expected that today's first witness would be a Navy lieutenant who took a last minute leave and missed Thresher's tragic final voyage.

Lt. Raymond A. McCoolle, 33, of Dover, N.H., father of five, had asked for leave just before the Thresher left Portsmouth Naval Shipyard for sea trials. He said his wife had an accident.

McCoolle, who joined the Thresher crew in October after the vessel arrived at Portsmouth for an overhaul, had never been to sea on the submarine.

A former crew member, Frank J. Destefano Jr., chief machinist mate, who recently transferred from the Thresher, is also scheduled to testify.

The Thresher, with 129 men aboard, never reappeared after a test dive 220 miles east of Cape Cod. Last communication with the vessel was at 9:17 a.m. Wednesday.

The five-man court closed a hearing session for the first time Monday to hear testimony from Vice Adm. Elton W. Grenfell, commander of the Atlantic submarine fleet.

Grenfell, final witness of the day, was asked if he had a personal theory of what happened to the Thresher. The admiral said his theory was classified.

The room was cleared for 25 minutes.

Testimony as to the fitness of the submarine was given by Capt. William Heronemus of Madison, Wis., shipbuilding and repair superintendent at the shipyard.

"I know of no ship in better readiness. I never knew of a ship with so few discrepancies before sailing," he said.

Scotland Yard Stages Raids

'Spies for Peace' Ring Is Target

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard made pre-dawn raids today in its campaign to crack the "Spies for Peace" ring for betraying some of Britain's nuclear survival secrets. Swinging into action after a wild, fist-throwing "ban the bomb" rally, agents of the special branch dealing with security offenses swooped on houses in search of a typewriter used to draw up pamphlets first distributed during the weekend peace march on London. The pamphlets disclosed secret plans for dispersal of government offices in the event of a nuclear attack.

Publication of the secret government plans was described by Home Secretary Henry Brooke as "the work of a traitor."

The special branch has been told that the mysterious antiwar group has printed another series of leaflets revealing more official secrets.

Young detectives, many of them in beatnik outfits, mingled with the ban the bomb marchers Monday on the watch for the new leaflets. One marcher who was distributing leaflets from a shopping bag was arrested. The leaflets were digests of the original pamphlet. Some 25,000 copies of the digest were reported distributed.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government has been plagued by repeated security scandals. Strong attacks on it are considered inevitable April 23 when Parliament reassembles.

Macmillan returned to London from his home in Sussex to deal with developments.

Once Around Roundtown

THE INITIAL meeting of local adults interested in a free Civil Defense course will be held 8 p.m. today in the auditorium at Circleville High School.

The course is entitled "Education for Survival" and is open to all interested adults. Facilities are available for accommodating five classes of not more than 30 persons each, according to Fritz Jacobs, city superintendent of schools.

THERE WAS much speculation in the downtown area today as to why the American flags were flying on the corners at Court and Main. . . Nobody seemed to be sure what the occasion was. . .

Mrs. E. R. Bennett, executive secretary of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce, helped clarify the situation, we think. . . The flags were to honor Thomas Jefferson's Birthday three days late, but were mistakenly put up a day too soon. . .

A bulletin published by the Daughters of the American Revolution that came with the flags had a typographical error that listed April 13 as Jefferson's birth date and the flags were scheduled to be flown tomorrow. . . However, they were raised today. . .

But April 13 is actually Jefferson's birthday, according to the World Almanac and a corrected publication from the DAR. . . The flags should have been up Saturday. . .

Mrs. Bennett was quick to point out that American flags may be flown any day. . . we agree wholeheartedly.

Boy, 4, Sets Fire Fatal to Invalid

PORTLAND, Ind. (AP)—A four-year-old boy had admitted starting a house fire which killed a young invalid woman, authorities said today.

The youngster admitted pouring kerosene on a kitchen table and in front of the chair in which the woman sat watching, paralyzed, then tossing a match into the liquid. Fire Chief Meredith Sanders said.

The Portland Commercial-Review quoted officials as saying the boy told them he was mad at the kitchen table because he had bumped his head against it.

The boy, whose name was withheld, was turned over to juvenile authorities who were wondering what to do with him.

Legislature Trims Filing of New Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — This year's General Assembly, which hasn't yet built up much of a head of steam probably won't come within 400 bills of the modern record of 1,715 bill introductions set in 1961.

That became clear Monday night when House members let their bill - introduction deadline slide past by offering the puny number of 55 proposed laws for a grand total this session in the House of 959. The Senate, which is not observing a deadline, had only 307 for a present session total of only 1,266.

While House members were rushing to get their last-minute bills into the hopper before the deadline:

The Senate passed after an hour-long debate and sent to the House a bill to permit public utilities to appeal directly to the Utilities Commission from local ordinances or zoning regulations which would block at least semi-direct-line installations to the ultimate destination of utility service. The Ohio Supreme Court would have final authority.

The House refused to accept Senate amendments to a bill backed by the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes to set up a state board of regents to coordinate higher education in Ohio. The bill will go to a joint Senate-House conference committee for settlement of differences.

The House received measures to:

Increase Highway Patrol manpower strength from 800 to 850.

Eliminate six-year terms for members of the five workmen's compensation boards of review and make their terms at the governor's pleasure.

Transfer all parks now operated by the Ohio Historical Society to the Department of Natural Resources by May 1.

The Senate received a bill to repeal all Sunday closing laws. It came from Sen. John C. Smith, D-Montgomery. A Senate committee now is wrestling with a House-approved bill which would change the entire concept of Ohio's so-called blue laws.

Another bill introduced in the Senate would prohibit a minor under 16 from riding a tractor operated by another, but it would not change that same minor's right to operate the tractor itself.

Among bills passed by the House and sent to the Senate were measures to:

Require morticians to dispose of dead bodies within 10 days without notifying the registrar of a health district that the body is in the hands of the funeral director.

Provide for certificates of title for watercraft and outboard motors.

2 Gls Missing As Rain Pours Over Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) — Hundreds of Hawaiians were homeless today and at least two persons missing as driving tropical rains continued to drench the island chains, feeding rampaging mountain streams on Oahu and Kauai islands.

Rains have hammered the islands almost steadily for a week. The Weather Bureau forecast continued rains.

An Army lieutenant colonel and a sergeant major from Schofield Barracks vanished when surging waters pulled their cars into an overflowing stream.

Lt. Col. Chester F. Sunski of Seattle, Wash., and Sgt. Maj. Oliver F. Anderson, Wilkesboro, N.C., were classified officially as missing by the Army.

Civil defense officials and police said Monday that damages—mostly to homes—would total more than $5 million. Government officials were studying spot damage reports before considering whether to declare the two islands hardest hit disaster areas.

The tiny island of Kauai, northmost in the archipelago, was hardest hit. The windward section of Oahu suffered heavy damages to homes.

Castro To Visit With Khrushchev

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government announced today a Prime Minister Fidel Castro will visit the Soviet Union this year at the invitation of Premier Khrushchev.

The announcement said Khrushchev had invited Castro to Moscow to discuss "questions referring to relations between the two countries."

Khrushchev's letter reportedly said the Soviet chief wants Castro to see for himself "the great achievements of the Soviet people" and to talk about ways of "strengthening the friendship between the peoples of the Soviet Union and Cuba and other matters of common interest."

U.S. Publicly Rebukes Chief of Cuban Exiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has publicly rebuked Cuban exile leader Jose Miro Cardona for his purported bitter denunciation of U.S. policy toward Cuba.

In doing so, the government declared publicly for the first time what has been rumored for days: that Miro had demanded a voice in U.S. policy toward the Communist island—or else $50 million to mount an exile expedition against Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The U.S. government is not prepared to make any such agreements, the State Department declared. It took this position in a stinging rejoinder to Miro's reported criticism of U.S.-Cuban policy in his 20-page letter of resignation as president of the Cuban Revolutionary Council.

The Miro letter has not been made public. The council—with Miro presiding—was still debating Monday night whether to do so. But enough informed descriptions of the letter were in the air for the State Department to turn loose its strong statement.

Informed of the State Department comments, Miro said Monday night: "I told the truth. I do not tell lies."

"I have never asked a second invasion," he added. "I have asked for hemispheric cooperation for joint military action."

Sources who claim to have studied the letter say it includes: —A detailed account of Miro's relations with the U.S. government—including President Kennedy—since the ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion of 1961.

—Charges the United States renege on promises to act against Castro; promises including that of a second invasion.

—Complaints that the United States has embarked on a course of coexistence toward the Soviet satellite in the Caribbean.

—In general, a loud protest at lack of U.S. support for action against Castro.

Action Delayed By Diefenbaker

Conservative Aides Book Second Parley

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker held back his resignation today, indicating he might not turn it in for at least another 24 hours.

Diefenbaker entered a meeting of his outgoing Cabinet saying it was not the last session, as had today, leaving the way clear for turn in his resignation sometime a takeover of the government by Lester B. Pearson's Liberals.

But Diefenbaker told newsmen he will see Gov. Gen. Georges P. Vanier at noon Wednesday and then summon his Cabinet into session once more.

Pearson had said he expected his government would be sworn in by Friday.

Diefenbaker called a meeting of his lame-duck Cabinet to make final arrangements for the changeover. Many Cabinet members lost their seats in Parliament in last week's elections.

Immediately after the session, Diefenbaker was expected to hand his resignation to the ailing governor general, Maj. Gen. Georges P. Vanier, at Government House. It is technically up to Vanier to choose a new prime minister, but there would be an uproar if he picked anyone but Pearson, whose Liberal party won the largest number of House of Commons seats in the national election April 8.

Pearson's party won only 130 seats in the 265-member House. This means Canada will have another minority government, as it has had since June 1962, but Pearson seemed assured of enough support from the Social Credit party to operate.

8 Ohio Cities Get Hospital Grants

CHICAGO (AP) — Eight Ohio cities have been granted nearly $1.2 million during February and March to build or expand hospital and other facilities, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced today.

The list of Ohio grants include: An addition to Chillicothe Hospital, $260,000; Jewish Vocational Service Center Cincinnati, $45,300; East Liverpool City Hospital nurses residence, $205,000; Blanchard Valley Hospital nurses home, Findlay, $60,000; Ottawa County Home, Oak Harbor, $112,068; Salem City Hospital, $240,000; Mercy Hospital, Toledo, $169,300; and Good Shepherd Manor Nursing Home, Wakefield, $100,000.

The council still hasn't accepted Miro's resignation. It has planned a formal meeting for tonight to decide its course.

The gist of the State Department declaration was that the United States doesn't want to be drawn into an all-out war by anti-Castro exiles.

The department said: "While appreciating the urgent desire of the Cuban exiles to return to a free and independent Cuba at the earliest possible date—a desire which is fully shared by the people and the government of the United States—the department considers this statement (the Miro letter) a gross distortion of recent history and of this government's policy with respect to the elimination of Castro communism from this hemisphere."

The department said Miro's letter "as it relates to conversations with the President and others in the government is highly inaccurate and distorted."

Legislature Trims Filing of New Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — This year's General Assembly, which hasn't yet built up much of a head of steam probably won't come within 400 bills of the modern record of 1,715 bill introductions set in 1961.

That became clear Monday night when House members let their bill - introduction deadline slide past by offering the puny number of 55 proposed laws for a grand total this session in the House of 369. The Senate, which is not observing a deadline, had only 307 for a present session total of only 1,266.

While House members were rushing to get their last-minute bills into the hopper before the deadline:

The Senate passed after an hour-long debate and sent to the House a bill to permit public utilities to appeal directly to the Utilities Commission from local ordinances or zoning regulations which would block at least semi-direct-line installations to the ultimate destination of utility service. The Ohio Supreme Court would have final authority.

The House refused to accept Senate amendments to a bill backed by the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes: to set up a state board of regents to coordinate higher education in Ohio. The bill will go to a joint Senate-House conference committee for settlement of differences.

The House received measures to:

Increase Highway Patrol manpower strength from 800 to 850.

Eliminate six-year terms for members of the five workmen's compensation boards of review and make their terms at the governor's pleasure.

Transfer all parks now operated by the Ohio Historical Society to the Department of Natural Resources by May 1.

The Senate received a bill to repeal all Sunday closing laws. It came from Sen. John C. Smith, D-Montgomery. A Senate committee now is wrestling with a House-approved bill which would change the entire concept of Ohio's so-called blue laws.

Another bill introduced in the Senate would prohibit a minor under 16 from riding a tractor operated by another, but it would not change that same minor's right to operate the tractor itself.

Among bills passed by the House and sent to the Senate were measures to:

Require morticians to dispose of dead bodies within 10 days without notifying the registrar of a health district that the body is in the hands of the funeral director.

Provide for certificates of title for watercraft and outboard motors.

2 Gls Missing As Rain Pours Over Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) — Hundreds of Hawaiians were homeless today and at least two persons missing as driving tropical rains continued to drench the island chains, feeding rampaging mountain streams on Oahu and Kauai islands.

Rains have hammered the islands almost steadily for a week. The Weather Bureau forecast continued rains.

An Army lieutenant colonel and a sergeant major from Schofield Barracks vanished when surging waters pulled their cars into an overflowing stream.

Lt. Col. Chester F. Sunski of Seattle, Wash., and Sgt. Maj. Oliver F. Anderson, Wilkesboro, N.C., were classified officially as missing by the Army.

Civil defense officials and police said Monday that damages—mostly to homes—would total more than $5 million. Government officials were studying spot damage reports before considering whether to declare the two islands hardest hit disaster areas.

The tiny island of Kauai, northmost in the archipelago, was hardest hit. The windward section of Oahu suffered heavy damages to homes.

Castro To Visit With Khrushchev

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government announced today Prime Minister Fidel Castro will visit the Soviet Union this year at the invitation of Premier Khrushchev.

The announcement said Khrushchev had invited Castro to Moscow to discuss "questions referring to relations between the two countries."

Khrushchev's letter reportedly said the Soviet chief wants Castro to see for himself "the great achievements of the Soviet people" and to talk about ways of "strengthening the friendship between the peoples of the Soviet Union and Cuba and other matters of common interest."

U.S. Publicly Rebukes Chief of Cuban Exiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has publicly rebuked Cuban exile leader Jose Miro Cardona for his purported bitter denunciation of U.S. policy toward Cuba.

In doing so, the government declared publicly for the first time what has been rumored for days: that Miro had demanded a voice in U.S. policy toward the Communist island—or else $50 million to mount an exile expedition against Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The U.S. government is not prepared to make any such agreements, the State Department declared. It took this position in a stinging rejoinder to Miro's reported criticism of U.S.-Cuban policy in his 20-page letter of resignation as president of the Cuban Revolutionary Council.

The Miro letter has not been made public. The council—with Miro presiding—was still debating Monday night whether to do so. But enough informed descriptions of the letter were in the air for the State Department to turn loose its strong statement.

Informed of the State Department comments, Miro said Monday night: "I told the truth. I do not tell lies."

"I have never asked a second invasion," he added. "I have asked for hemispheric cooperation for joint military action."

Sources who claim to have studied the letter say it includes: —A detailed account of Miro's relations with the U.S. government—including President Kennedy—since the ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion of 1961.

—Charges the United States reneged on promises to act against Castro; promises including that of a second invasion.

—Complaints that the United States has embarked on a course of coexistence toward the Soviet satellite in the Caribbean.

—In general, a loud protest at lack of U.S. support for action against Castro.

Action Delayed By Diefenbaker

Conservative Aides Book Second Parley

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker held back his resignation today, indicating he might not turn it in for at least another 24 hours.

Diefenbaker entered a meeting of his outgoing Cabinet saying it was not the last session, as had today, leaving the way clear for turn in his resignation sometime a takeover of the government by Lester B. Pearson's Liberals.

But Diefenbaker told newsmen he will see Gov. Gen. Georges P. Vanier at noon Wednesday and then summon his Cabinet into session once more.

Pearson had said he expected his government would be sworn in by Friday.

Diefenbaker called a meeting of his lame-duck Cabinet to make final arrangements for the handover. Many Cabinet members lost their seats in Parliament in last week's elections.

Immediately after the session, Diefenbaker was expected to hand his resignation to the ailing governor general, Maj. Gen. Georges P. Vanier, at Government House. It is technically up to Vanier to choose a new prime minister, but there would be an uproar if he picked anyone but Pearson, whose Liberal party won the largest number of House of Commons seats in the national election April 8.

Pearson's party won only 130 seats in the 265-member House. This means Canada will have another minority government, as it has had since June 1962, but Pearson seemed assured of enough support from the Social Credit party to operate.

8 Ohio Cities Get Hospital Grants

CHICAGO (AP) — Eight Ohio cities have been granted nearly $1.2 million during February and March to build or expand hospital and other facilities, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced today.

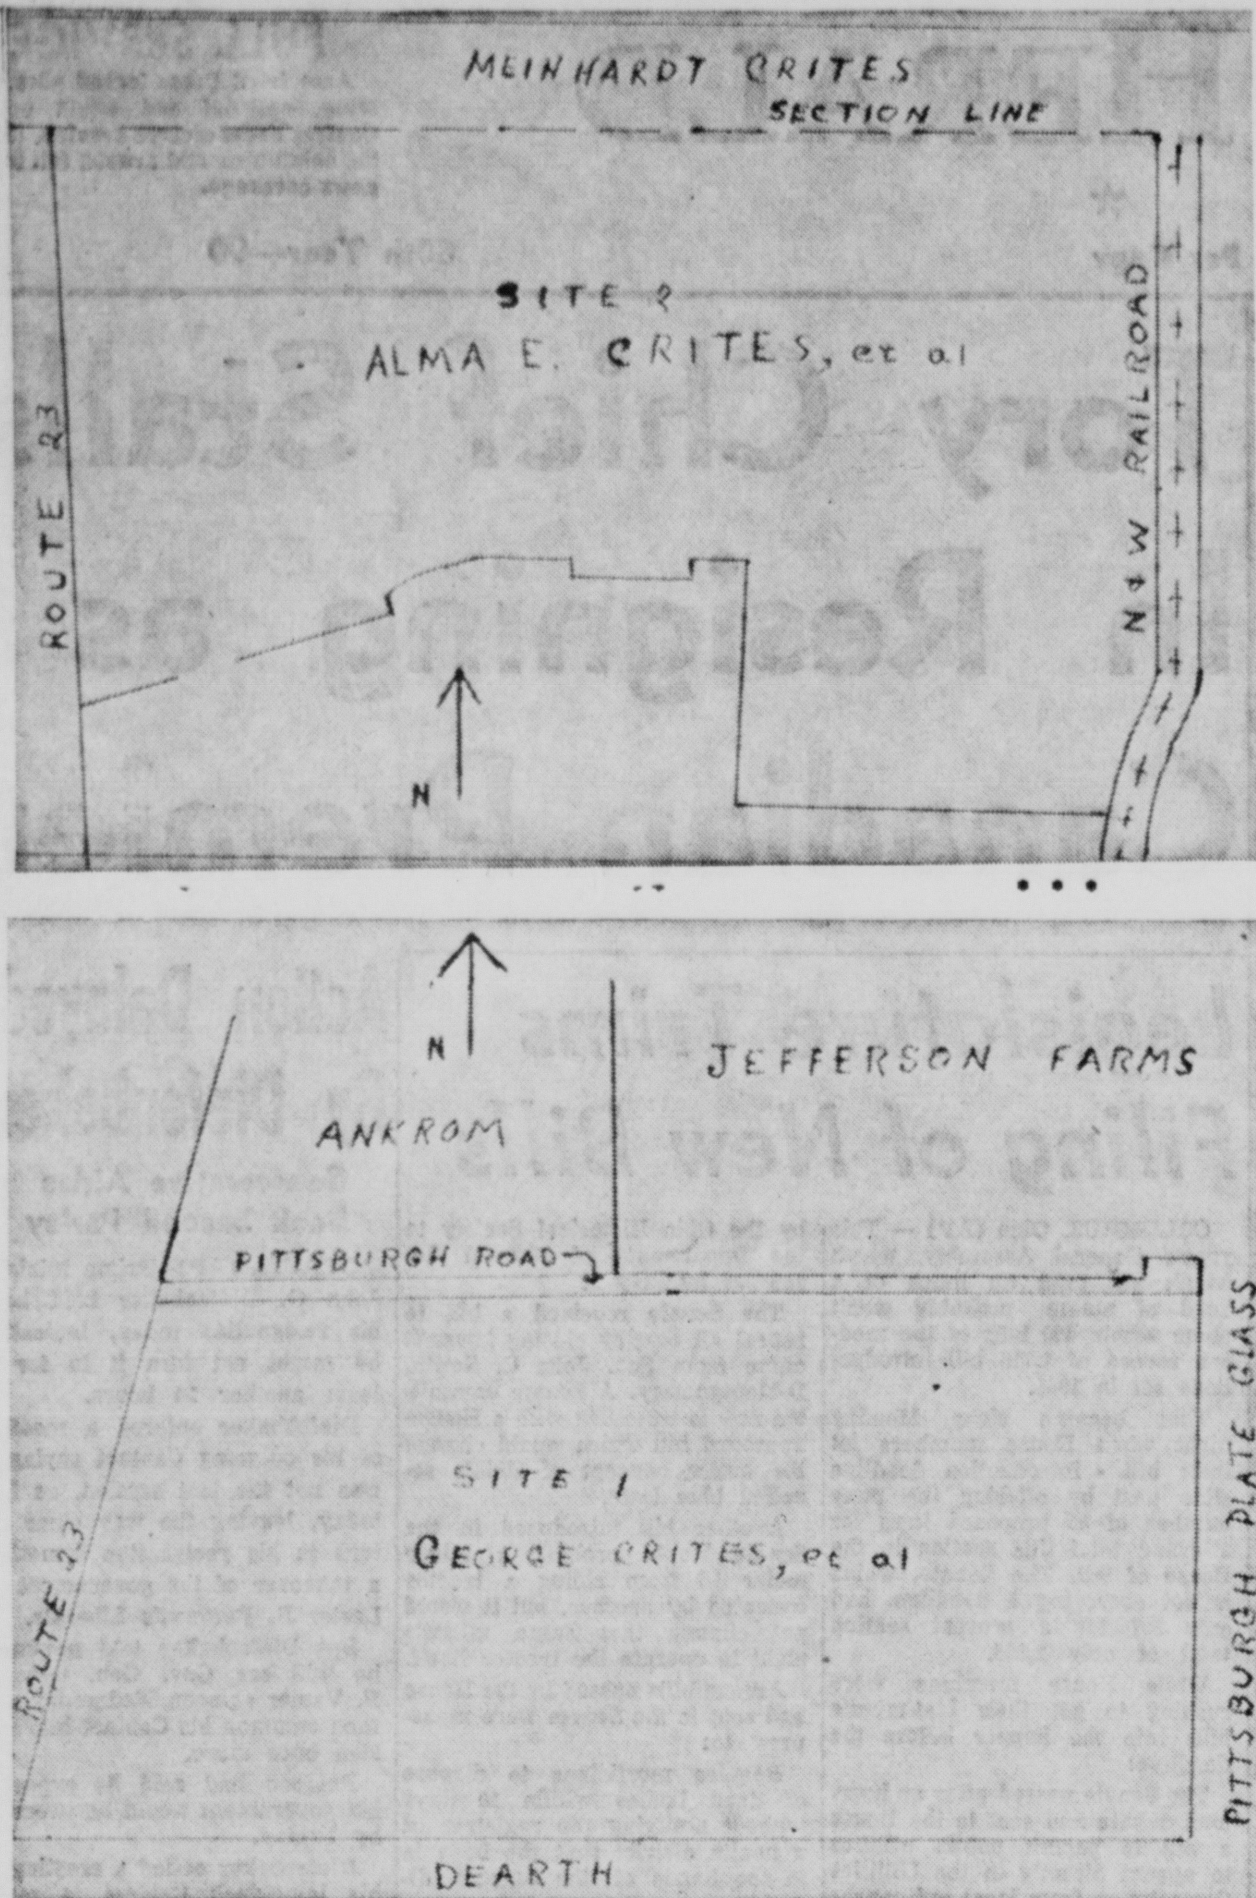

The list of Ohio grants includes: An addition to Chillicothe Hospital, $260,000; Jewish Vocational Service Center Cincinnati, $45,300; East Liverpool City Hospital nurses residence, $205,000; Blanchard Valley Hospital nurses home, Findlay, $60,000; Ottawa County Home, Oak Harbor, $112,068; Salem City Hospital, $240,000; Mercy Hospital, Toledo, $169,300; and Good Shepherd Manor Nursing Home, Wakefield, $100,000.

The council still hasn't accepted Miro's resignation. It has planned a formal meeting for tonight to decide its course.

The gist of the State Department declaration was that the United States doesn't want to be drawn into an all-out war by anti-Castro exiles.

The department said: "While appreciating the urgent desire of the Cuban exiles to return to a free and independent Cuba at the earliest possible date—a desire which is fully shared by the people and the government of the United States—the department considers this statement (the Miro letter) a gross distortion of recent history and of this government's policy with respect to the elimination of Castro communism from this hemisphere."

The department said Miro's letter "as it relates to conversations with the President and others in the government is highly inaccurate and distorted."

Yesterday's transaction gives Columbus & Southern Ohio ownership of approximately 475 acres of land here, including the 187 purchased from Speakman last week. The 300 owned by South-Central pushed the total to about 775 acres held by the two power firms.

At time of purchase, the Miller firm earmarked about 200 acres on the east side of Route 23 for a housing development and the future erection of 600 homes. Another 100 acres west of Route 23 was designated for a commercial enterprise, including a shopping center and motel.

ADDITIONAL activity in the area centers around the DuPont and Pittsburgh Plate Glass plants already located there.

Last September DuPont announced plans for the erection of a new unit for the manufacture of "Teflon" FEP film. Later in November the firm reported plans to build a unit for development work on a new type film.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass several weeks ago referred to preliminary plans for an addition to its new resin plant here. Officials at PPG yesterday said the Circleville plant has been earmarked for an expansion program, but that no definite cost figure has been announced.

A proposal last July to annex to Circleville about 1,200 acres extending south from the city to the Circleville-Tarleton Road and generally bounded by Route 23 on the west and the Kingston Pike on the east met with only partial success. The final annexation amounted to about 103 acres of land that fringed on the Circleville corporate limits.

Kidnap Victim Of 1933 Dies At Age of 62

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Charles Boettcher II, member of a wealthy Colorado family who was held in a 1933 kidnaping, died Monday of a heart attack in his sleep. He was 62.

Boettcher and his wife had been living on plush Nob Hill since last November after spending a year in Hawaii.

Mrs. Boettcher said she found her husband dead at 4 a.m. She said he had been ill with heart trouble for a considerable time.

Boettcher was abducted from the garage at his Denver home in February 1933 and held for $60,000 ransom. He was freed unharmed several weeks later after his father, the late Claude K. Boettcher, paid the ransom.

The kidnapers were captured and sentenced to long prison terms.

Boettcher's grandfather, Charles, founded sugar beet, cement and stockyards industries in Colorado and was a figure in other business ventures.

Other government statistics, the department said, also pointed to a strengthening of the economy. These included increases in factory employment, employment in nonmanufacturing industries and in average weekly earnings.

Kennedy Helps Cleric's Wife Contact Mate

ATLANTA (AP)—Intervention by President Kennedy enabled Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. to talk by telephone with her husband, jailed for leading an anti-segregation march in Birmingham, Ala.

"The President called and said he had been in touch with Birmingham," Mrs. King related Monday night.

"He told me, 'I've arranged for your husband to telephone you very shortly. You probably know we sent FBI agents in last night to talk with him and he's all right.'"

Mrs. King said her husband called shortly afterward and assured her he was all right and in good spirits.

Mrs. King said she first tried to reach the President on Sunday, talked with press secretary Pierre Salinger and then received two calls from the President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

In Palm Beach, Fla., the holiday White House said Kennedy telephoned Mrs. King to reassure her that the Justice Department was keeping a close watch on King and the Birmingham situation. No details were given.

Long a leader in desegregation campaigns, King went to jail Friday for participating in a march protesting segregation in the Alabama industrial city.

Young Chides Rocky, Nixon For Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, said Monday that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and former Vice President Richard Nixon should halt "political criticism" of President Kennedy's Cuba policies.

Young said in a senate speech that at Rockefeller, in a recent press conference, made the "innuendo" that Kennedy was appeasing the Communists by forbidding further hit-and-run raids by Cuban exiles from United States soil.

"Rockefeller should know better and probably does," Young said, adding that such raids lead to a major war.

Young described Nixon as a "Monday morning quarterback" for stating that the Kennedy administration blundered in failing to provide air cover in the abortive 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion.

Young said Nixon "was exceedingly silent in 1959 and 1960 when he was Vice President and Castro was expropriating American property without compensation."

Young Chides Rocky, Nixon For Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, said Monday that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and former Vice President Richard Nixon should halt "political criticism" of President Kennedy's Cuba policies.

Young said in a senate speech "at Rockefeller, in a recent press conference, made the 'innuendo' that Kennedy was appeasing the Communists by forbidding further hit-and-run raids by Cuban exiles from United States soil.

"Rockefeller should know better and probably does," Young said, adding that such raids lead to a major war.

Young described Nixon as a "Monday morning quarterback" for stating that the Kennedy administration blundered in failing to provide air cover in the abortive 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion.

Young said Nixon "was exceedingly silent in 1959 and 1960 when he was Vice President and Castro was expropriating American property without compensation."

Problems of Cuban Exiles

Fresh Defiant Mood Brews For New Raids on Castro

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of four articles by William L. Ryan, AP special correspondent, exploring the background of the Cuban exile question.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hit-and-run raids against Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Communist Cuba are halted for the moment. But new action is being planned, possibly soon, in defiance of a U.S. ban.

Today, just two years since the disastrous Bay of Pigs invasion, there is defiance in the air among the sullenly angry, frustrated anti-Castro militants in Miami's exile community. Informed Cuban sources say at least one new attack is in the planning stage.

"Watch out for that next one," said a non-Cuban source whose business it is to know about such matters. "When it comes it's going to be a lulu."

Bahamas bases used by organizations like Alpha 66, the Second Front of Escambray and the Revolutionary Student Directorate have been put out of action by British and U. S. crackdowns. Their leaders have been ordered to remain in Dade County — the Miami area — at all times.

But anti-Castro organizations are moving to new bases now — probably outside the Bahamas areas and most likely somewhere among the small islands in the Caribbean Sea, within striking distance of Cuba.

Recovering from the shock of the U.S. intervention in their anti-Castro activities the members, of the militant organizations now are engaged in getting their bearings, marking time, making plans. They are even talking of uniting their efforts, which would be a remarkable development for the perennially divided Cuban exiles.

They say confidently they will be ready again—soon—and that neither the United States nor the British can stop them. They say they intend to hit and hit hard.

They still have the means to carry out considerable harassment. The Escambray group, for example, lost $50,000 worth of weapons and ammunition, confiscated by authorities in the recent crackdowns. But the organization and others, like Alpha 66 and the Student Directorate, do not lack for money, apparently. Escambray leader Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo, who recently fell into the roundup net, is known to have boasted since then to intimates that his outfit still has large stores of weapons, ammunition and equipment. A member of Alpha 66 told me "we still have enough boats to give (the Castro regime) trouble."

Two Alpha 66 boats have been intercepted and put out of action by the U.S. and British crack-down. Another boat, the Omega III, still is lurking about somewhere in international waters in the vicinity of the Bahamas, possibly hidden on one of the many small islands. It may even be inside Cuban territory near one of the many offshore islands.

Unlicensed 'Driver' Is Not Arrested

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Police in suburban Fairfield did not make any arrest in a traffic accident Sunday even though the "driver" did not have a license. After all, the "driver" is only 3½ years old.

The youngster is James E. Maxwell Jr., son of Butler County deputy sheriff James Maxwell. The father had left his 1963 convertible in front of his home with the keys in it.

Suddenly, he noticed the car headed down the street. James Jr. had climbed into the car and turned on the ignition. The car hit one parked automobile and smashed into a garage. James Jr. was found in the back seat with his head hidden and unhurt.

The elder Maxwell estimated damage to his car at $400 and to the parked auto and the garage at $100.

Exile activists say they still have one base intact—possibly in Caribbean waters.

Alpha 66 is one of about five organizations, small in numbers, which carry on active harassment of the Havana regime. One of its leaders, Armando Fleites, said his organization and the others want to know this: if the raiders zero in on purely Castroist targets and avoid attacking Russian ships or Russians, will the Kennedy administration still seek to stop them?

"You mean," I asked him, "you intend to test President Kennedy's intentions?"

"Exacto!" he replied emphatically. "At this moment we are confused. We have to get together and discuss how we can go about this carefully. Perhaps we just mark time right now. We are not in conflict with President Kennedy and we do not want to be, but we still want to know."

The crackdowns, I reminded him, already were aimed at all operations from U.S. and Bahamas waters. He shrugged, indicating he still wanted to be sure.

"We have underground guerrilla forces inside Cuba and we want to infiltrate more to fight the Communists. So we will continue by whatever means possible."

A well-informed non-Cuban source said solemnly: "The raids in themselves are not important except possibly as a means for the exiles to let off steam and demonstrate their heroism in working to free Cuba. You don't bring down a building by throwing stones through a window. But it sustains their hopes."

"When new attacks come, that in turn will enhance Castro's position. He will blame the United States and then ridicule its patrols. And there will be ridicule from the Cuban exile side, too, and probably from Latin America. There will be anti-Yankeeism all over the place, on all sides."

Among young militants, also, one hears warnings of resentment against the Yankees growing because of actions against the anti-Castro groups.

Hemophilia Victim Home

Oklahoma Boy Given 110 Gallons of Blood

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP)—Fred Wallace, 17, a hemophilia victim, spent his first full day at home Easter, 6½ months after he entered Baylor Medical Center in Dallas, Tex.

It was the first time the Wallace family — Fred, his widowed mother and two sisters—had been together since he entered the hospital.

Last June, Fred fell and bruised a knee. For the average teen-ager it would have been a minor injury. But for Fred, whose blood lacks the normal clotting agent, the bruise called for surgery.

One operation in June was unsuccessful. In October he entered the Dallas hospital for another operation. By Jan. 21, Fred had had eight operations and doctors found they couldn't control the bleeding.

Blood transfusions were increased. Fred got from three to 10 pints of blood a day—and on one day he got 22 pints.

In February, when the total number of pints of blood Fred had received passed 600, Wadley Blood Institute, which had been supplying the blood, issued an emergency call for donors.

Fred's classmates here collected $5,000 to help meet bills. Convicts at the Oklahoma Penitentiary donated. Soldiers at Ft. Sill, Okla., and Ft. Hood, Tex., gave. Hundreds of Dallas residents, urged by a Dallas Times-Herald editorial, gave blood or money. People from many states used blood bank exchange systems to help.

Doctors used the donations to make a special concentrate — which takes 16 pints of whole blood for one pint of clotting concentrate.

Last week, Fred stopped bleeding for the first time in more than six months. Saturday he came home.

From October to April, Fred had used 933 pints of blood—more than 110 gallons.

High Tribunal Bans Curbs By Lower Court on Rail Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has decided 6-3 that lower federal tribunals lack authority to block cuts in railroad freight rates pending a final ruling by the Interstate Commerce Commission on the reductions.

The decision is of prime interest in the Southeast where railroads are proposing to cut rates on grain despite vigorous opposition from barge lines.

Justice Brennan, delivering the court's majority opinion, said Congress had given to ICC the sole and exclusive power to suspend rate cuts. This congressional action, he said, withdrew from the judiciary any pre-existing power to grant injunctive relief against cuts.

Justice Clark, in a dissenting opinion, said the court majority in today's case "sounds the death knell to barge transportation on the Tennessee River."

Chief Justice Warren and Justice Black joined in Clark's dissent.

Brennan's majority opinion said that the congressional mandate to achieve a balance between competing forms of transportation is directed not to the courts but to the commission.

Brennan said that Congress did not intend to permit the revival of the judicial remedy "the exercise of which might well defeat rather than promote the objectives of the national transportation policy."

Clark's dissenting opinion, however, protested that "it is, indeed, a sad day for our judicial processes when our courts are rendered powerless to prevent this miscarriage of the clear policy of our government the frustration of the admitted duties of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the destruction of an entire system of transportation."

Cincinnati Loses Water Rights Fuss

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Butler County Common Pleas Court Judge Fred B. Cramer ruled in favor of establishment of a Butler County conservancy district Monday in an underground water rights dispute with Cincinnati.

The conservancy district, designed to protect the underground water supply of the cities of Hamilton and Fairfield and other parts of Butler County, would cover Fairfield, Ross and St. Clair townships.

The request to establish the conservancy district came after the Cincinnati waterworks disclosed plans to sink wells near Ross—an area from which both Hamilton and Fairfield get their water.

Originally, the city of Fairfield was a party to the request but it subsequently withdrew, casting its lot with Cincinnati.

In ruling in favor of the conservancy district to protect the underground water supply, Judge Cramer said: "The genuine and substantial concern for a future water system, adequate to serve the needs of both petitioners and the city of Cincinnati, affords a sound basis for the establishment of the district."

The city of Cincinnati had claimed a conservancy district could not be established to regulate underground water. Judge Cramer rejected that claim.

Adlai Sees Cuban Freedom Restored

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson told Latin-American allies Monday Cuba's freedom will be restored—and then the American states must prevent another Fidel Castro.

Stevenson, who has just returned from a European visit, spoke to the Council of the Organization of American States about the long and short views of the Western Hemisphere.

Stevenson did not specify how Cuba's freedom would be restored. Kennedy administration policy has been to put long-range economic and diplomatic pressure on the Castro regime, but not to launch a military assault on Cuba.

Zanesville Farmer, 64, Is Crushed by Tractor

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Tree trimmers found the body of a farmer who was crushed Monday when the tractor he was operating plunged over a 20-foot embankment. He was Nelson Van Allen, 64.

The accident happened on the victim's farm near White Cottage eight miles southwest of here.

Qualified Reassurance

The first reappraisal of the nation's natural resources in 10 years has reached conclusions that convey qualified reassurance.

Despite a projected doubling of the population — to 331 million by the year 2000 — the United States will have enough land, water, minerals and energy if re-nological progress continues and if resources are managed wisely.

This is the gist of a 1,000-page report by a nonprofit research corporation, Resources for the Future. The keynote of the report is the need for conservation.

Scarcity of water in the West, for example, may require affected areas to divert water from agricultural irrigation to industrial uses. In the East the water question involves quality rather than quantity, presenting the need to build more reservoirs and end the pollution of streams.

Burgeoning population, sprawling over what is now rural acreage, will require urban planners to channel growth around some of the greenery now existing between the great metropolitan areas — to preserve parks, nature areas, farm land and other open spaces. People will need more and more places to get away from those teeming millions of tomorrow.

The resources report should encourage state and local action throughout the country. It leaves no doubt that the future will be comfortable and prosperous only if current misuse of land, water and other resources is checked. All the responsibility cannot be left to the federal government.

New Approach on Drug Racket

Federal narcotics laws in the United States have as their major fault that they do not adequately discriminate between "victims" of drug addiction and the "culprits" who prey upon the victims.

The President's Advisory Commission on Narcotic and Drug Abuse has issued a report containing a list of recommendations for law changes. These appear to be aimed in the right direction. In addition, the commission urges a coordinated federal attack on illicit drug traffic.

Present federal narcotic laws provide for mandatory minimum sentences (two years in jail and $20,000 fine) with probation, parole and suspended sentences permitted only for first offenders. This, the commission contends, deprives courts of the discretion needed to bring about reform of drug addicts. If there is no hope of parole, the drug user has no incentive for rehabilitation.

The commission recommends that possession of narcotics where there is no intention to sell these be punished with indeterminate sentences and parole and probation be allowed if a defendant will undergo treatment. But the commission recommends continuation of strict penalties against peddlers, importers and wholesalers — while mounting a major campaign to wipe out the traffic in dope.

Other nations, notably Britain, have used this approach to virtually eliminate drug addiction as a national problem. It may be worth a try in the United States.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry bases its case for a price rise on shrinking profits in the last few years while prices held fairly stable and operating costs continued to rise. But will a price boost stick? And hold?

The figures show that in return on both assets and sales the steel industry has been running well below many other kinds of business.

But one reason its profits have been lower is that for five years its output has been well below its productive capacity. Lower sales volume as well as skimpier profit margins have cut total earnings. Some of this drop in output is due to fluctuations in the general economy and particularly in the demand for metals by durable goods makers. But a good part of the low output figures has been due to competition.

This has come both from other metals, plastics, glass made in the United States taking over some of steel's old markets, and from foreign competition. Both Europeans and Japanese have been able to ship steel products to U.S. ports at lower prices than domestic mills were listing.

American steel makers say the foreign competition is tough because labor costs are lower abroad and because overseas steel mills, largely rebuilt since World War II and often with U.S. financial aid, have later and more efficient equipment.

This has cramped any efforts to American steel mills to raise prices. And also, since last year's attempt to raise prices failed, steelmen are prone to blame White House opposition to price rises. Until last week most price changes were downward.

A big jump in steel demand in recent weeks has boosted production by 8 per cent. The demand has favored some steel products above others. Steel makers believe that price increases on such items can stick—at least for a time.

The joker is to determine how much of the jump in demand is real—that is, for more tonnage now to meet manufacturing schedules—and how much is to build up stocks as a hedge against a possible steel strike in late summer. Built-up inventories are used sooner or later, and while they are being consumed new orders wither. Often prices do too.

The statistics back of steel management thinking in favor of higher prices are these:

In 1962 net income after taxes of 78 iron and steel companies, as tabulated by the First National City Bank, came to $605 million, down 15 per cent from 1961. This was a return of 5.4 per cent on net assets of $11 billion. Profits were a 4.1 per cent of industry sales. Some 40 other industry groups showed a better return on assets. And 32 others had a higher profit margin on sales.

Steel prices rose on average 35 per cent between 1953 and 1957. Since then they have been almost stable. Output has slumped from around 115 million tons in 1957 to around 100 million tons last year. And even current increased demand isn't expected to raise it to more than 105 million.

Capacity has risen from around 130 million tons to an estimated 160 million today. About one-third of that is still idle, although steelmen say much of the idle facilities is obsolete or nearly so.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

RH are two initials of great importance to a young married couple. It is not commonly known that these initials stand for rhesus, the species of monkey on which the original experimentation was done.

RH is the symbol for an important characteristic of the blood. The RH factor is significant at the time of pregnancy. The confusion about the RH factor adds an extra burden to the usual anxiety of expectant parents who know that the RH can determine the health of a newborn child.

The blood of most people is classified as RH positive. Relatively few are RH negative.

When both the wife and the husband are RH positive, or when both are RH negative, the baby will not be affected at birth. Or if the wife is RH positive and the husband RH negative, the baby will still not be affected.

It is only in those relatively rare instances when the wife is RH negative and the father is RH positive that close observation throughout pregnancy is important. For in such a situation, if the baby growing in the uterus happens to inherit the father's RH positive factor, a complex interchange may take place between mother and baby. This produces special antibodies which may cause severe anemia and jaundice in the baby at birth.

It should be noted that the first-born child is hardly ever an RH baby, even when the mother is RH negative and the father RH positive. With subsequent pregnancies, the possibilities of an RH baby resulting from this combination does increase.

Repeated studies of the mother's blood throughout pregnancy alerts the doctor to the need for special preparation for an RH baby at childbirth. When this does occur—and it must be emphasized that it is rare—the baby's chances for survival are now excellent.

A remarkable scientific technique actually removes most of the baby's blood and at the same time replaces it, by transfusion, with healthy blood. This almost invariably insures the normal development of the baby.

The name for this procedure is "exsanguination transfusion."

Several decades ago, babies born with this condition had little chance of survival. The brilliant scientific advances in hematology—the study of the blood—has given us our knowledge of the RH factor and are responsible for this great contribution to the survival and health of newborn babies.

Medical science has progressed far in making childbirth a safe and simple process. Yet pregnancy and childbirth are still rife with anxiety and fear for the uninformed mother-to-be.

Will my child be normal? Will I suffer unbearable pain? Will I get to the hospital on time?

These are some of the things that worry prospective mothers and they are almost always without justification.

Our newer knowledge and techniques, the special anesthetics that minimize pain and the rarity of complications should give great reassurance. When the facts are learned the birth of a baby can be truly one of the happiest experiences in the life of a woman.

The UN Cracker Barrel

By John Chamberlain

For years I have been walking or driving past the great glass house of the UN of the East River in New York City without having any impulse to go inside. The decisions of the nations, it has always been obvious, are made elsewhere, in Moscow, and — defensively — in Washington, Paris and London. But the other day, at the invitation of an old friend who covers the UN, I stopped by at the glass house for coffee in the cafeteria.

It was, in its way, an enchanting experience. For, as the gossip and lore of the place were tossed over the coffee cups, the whole wide world seemed to be brought down to the dimensions of an exchange over the cracker barrel in an old-fashioned country store.

Adlai Stevenson? Oh, yes, Adlai. He'd like to trade his job of U. S. Ambassador to the UN for Dean Rusk's as head of the State Department. But, since it is apparent that this is an ambition beyond his reach, he'll settle for what he has. Oh, no, they'll never force him out, even though certain hat-checkers in Washington would like to see him go. The reason? He's solid with the Mrs. Roosevelt survivors in the Democratic Party. This keeps him glued into place; firing him would create too much bad blood.

So that's the reason for Adlai. Well, what about U Thant's operation in Katanga?

Here the gossip really heats up. It seems that U Thant, when challenged, speaks of it as the United States policy for the Congo, not the UN policy. The U. S. wanted it, so the UN bought it. And why did the U. S. want it? Here the cracker barrel motif emerges. Washington brought the anti-Moise Tshombe because of union politics in Michigan. Holy cats, you interject, that's really reaching for an explanation. Well, it may sound far-fetched, you are told, but just trace it out a bit. Soapy Williams, who was governor of Michigan before he became JFK's ambassador to Africa, is Walter Reuther's man. Adoula, the currently dominant Congo leader, was a trade unionist. He was brought up by the Belgian socialists. Tshombe, on the other hand, is the son of a capitalist. Unlike most Africans, he admires the West because of its technology and its traditionally free business system. Well, Walter Reuther's man Soapy, being a second generation and therefore anti-business scion of a rich American family, would naturally pick Adoula over Tshombe. Credit an assist to the UAW-CIO on the play. Whether you like it or not, Walter Reuther's shadow never grows less. Or at least so the cracker barrel conversation at the UN insists.

In a world that is far gone in lunacy, this is as reasonable an explanation for our Katanga policy as any. But what about the small nations at the UN? Don't they tremble when there is any infringement of the right of self-determination? No, for the unification of the Congo really helps self-determination everywhere else. This is a real intellectual poser, but when you think it over you begin to see that it makes sense. The "Go-slow" politicians of the Rhodesian highlands to the south of Katanga wanted to see Tshombe win because he is a "Go-slow" man himself when it comes to cutting ties with Europe and America. Tshombe was the "stopper." But now that Tshombe is out, and the Congo has become a centralized State, it means that the "go-fast" boys in the South Central African highlands can push for quick local independence. Every little whistle stop south of Katanga gets a government of its own.

The question of UN finances next comes up as the coffee cups are replenished. It's not just a question of getting Uncle Sam to pick up tabs. The small nations love the UN because it saves them lots of money on diplomatic expense. The Sultan of Timbuctoo (let's be fanciful so we won't have to name real names) can't afford to keep ambassadors in every national capital in the world. But if he sends a man to the UN in New York, that man can keep in touch with representatives of every nation without going outside the delegates' lounge. It's a penny-pinching operation, but it gets large diplomatic results.

Thus the cracker barrel realism of the UN cafeteria. I had a fascinating time, and I mean to go back again. That is, if my friend will still invite me.

GYPSEY ROSE LEE wins this week's o-pun championship by telling of a sketch she played in an old revue that called for the property man's ringing a deep gong offstage at a certain stage of the proceedings. One day the prop man displaced his gong and in desperation shook a little dinner bell he found on a shelf. The unexpected silvery tinkle caused Gypsy to burst out laughing, and the punch line of the sketch was lost as a consequence.

When she returned to the wings, Miss Lee demanded that the prop man be fired forthwith. "It's obvious," she explained, "that he ain't done right by our little knell!"

"One of my most challenging wartime experiences," recalled a not-too-reliable sea captain, "came in the icy North Atlantic. I was torpedoed and lived for nine days on one can of sardines." "Remarkable," nodded the man next to him at the bar. "How did you keep from falling off?"

Gov. James A. Rhodes accepted Hyslop's resignation.

Hyslop, who is president of Consolidation Coal Co. of St. Clairsville, said a two-month business trip to Europe is one of the major reasons for his decision.

The chairman is elected by the 15-member bipartisan commission. Hyslop is a Republican, and his resignation leaves six Republicans and eight Democrats on the commission.

Miss Merz, Rev. Troutman Are United in Marriage

MRS. GEORGE L. TROUTMAN

Zion Lutheran Church in Groveport was the setting Mar. 31 for the wedding of Miss Margie Merz and the Rev. George L. Troutman.

The Rev. Paul L. Bockelman of Russell, Ky., son-in-law of the bridegroom, performed the 4:30 p. m. double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white carnations, ivy foliage, tapered candles and palms.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Harry Merz, 509 E. Mound St.

Mrs. Eric Menger of Groveport was organist and vocalists were Mr. and Mrs. Terry Cromwell of Ferndale, Mich.

Given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Donald Stiers of Columbus, the bride wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace over bridal taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice featuring a scalloped portrait neckline enhanced with seed pearls and iridescent and long sleeves that tapered to points over the hands. The front of the bouffant skirt was highlighted with dainty scallops and the back revealed tiers of Chantilly lace extending to the hemline. A crown of seed pearls held her veil of illusion and she carried a white Bible topped with white roses and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Gene Thurston of Pataskala was matron of honor and Mrs. Nancy Walker was bridesmaid. They wore afternoon length dresses of turquoise sateen styled identically with a fitted bodice, crescent neckline and elbow length sleeves. The sheath skirts featured a short overskirt accented at the front waistline with a bow of self fabric. Silk organza open crown pillboxes with a double bow at the back held their small face veils and each carried a cascade of pink carnations and pink sweetheart roses with ivy foliage.

Debra Bockelman of Russell, Ky., was flower girl. She carried a miniature cascade of white

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Bygones Are Bygones!

DEAR ABBY: My husband owns three houses in the block where we live. When he purchased these houses we learned that his ex-wife and her second husband were living in one of them. I know there is nothing between my husband and his ex-wife any more, but every time I run into her the funniest feeling comes over me. I hate to tell my husband to ask them to move when their lease runs out in August because they are good tenants, pay their rent on time, have no children and keep our property nice. But, Abby, I don't like seeing a woman almost every day who was once married to my husband. What should I do?

BIG PROBLEM
DEAR BIG: Don't ask your husband to ask them to move. If they were replaced by less desirable tenants, you'd never hear the end of it. This woman is part of the past. The past is dead. Bury it!

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl who just loves to dance. There are more girls than boys at our school, so if a girl doesn't cut in on another girl who's dancing with a boy, some girls never get a chance to dance. I was wondering, when a girl wants to cut in on another girl so she can dance with a boy, whose shoulder should she tap? The boy's or the girl's?

LOVES TO DANCE
DEAR LOVES: I don't advise a girl to cut in on another girl in order to dance with a boy, but she should tap the shoulder of the one she wants to sit down. You'd better get this straight, or you could wind up dancing with the girl.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to mothers to tell their married daughters to stay home—LEARN to get along with their husbands and raise their own children—should have been printed on the front page! I let my married daughter "come home" when she and her husband quarreled. Now I'm raising her two kiddies while she is running around having a good time. If I didn't let her come home, she might not have been so quick to leave her husband. I made it too easy for her.

Ohio Assembly Receives Low Total of Bills

The Senate dispute over the right of utilities firms to go directly to the Utilities Commission in attempts to overcome the objections of local communities to utility lines extensions is an old one.

Although opponents object to it as a "hot wires" bill, the chief sponsor, Sen. Robert Zellar, R-Muskingum, referred to it as a "good neighbor" bill.

The chief objection, as voiced by Sen. Joseph W. Bartunek, D-Cuyahoga, is that high-voltage lines passing over residential communities present a serious danger to life.

Most of the opposition came from the Cleveland area where there are 60 incorporated communities in Cuyahoga County alone.

Zellar, representing a coal-producing area, explained that the only economical process these days is to produce electricity where coal is mined, then transmit the electrical power to the point where it is needed. This means, he said, that power lines must run from Southeast Ohio to Northeast Ohio where the high-voltage power is needed.

Zellar said the bill is necessary in order that the interest of the state as a whole may be meshed with the needs of the local subdivisions through which the power lines — mounted on their huge towers — must pass.

Bartunek asserted the bill by-passing the utility is a violation of the home rule provision of the Ohio Constitution.

"I do not believe defeat of this bill would hamper either the growth or needs of the state," he said. "It would be a serious step backward."

After opposition speeches by Sens. Roy Gardner, R-Richland, and Kline Roberts, R-Franklin, Sen. James Kilbane, D-Cuyahoga, expressed the opinion: "This is special-interest legislation, period."

Sen. James Grose, R-Trumbull, succeeded in getting a floor amendment passed which would give firms seeking to install water mains the same right of direct appeal to the Utilities Commission as that which would be enjoyed by other firms.

Also in the last-minute introduction of House bills were measures to:

Designate U.S. 22 between Zanesville and Washington Court House as "the Sherman-Sheridan Memorial Highway."

Area appropriate $45,000 for future work on the Tuscarawas River.

First National Roots Started Here More Than 100 Years Ago

Roots of The First National Bank were imbedded in the history of Circleville more than 100 years ago.

After the failure of the Bank of Circleville (the second bank of this name), which occurred April 14, 1842, a banking institution known as the Pickaway County Savings Institute was organized with a capital stock of $25,000. President of the institute was Dr.

3 Judges To Hear Lima Murder Case

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Prolonged efforts to seat a jury for Robert G. Lafferty's murder trial ended Monday when he changed his plea from innocent to guilty and requested that a three-judge panel hear the case.

The 21-year-old Lima man is one of two persons charged in the fatal shooting of Clarence E. Prince, Elida's mayor and a township marshal, Larry Hance, 22, will be tried later.

Judge John H. Davidson of Allen County Common Pleas Court dismissed the 11 jurors who had been seated tentatively after more than a week's work. He said Chief Justice Kingsley A. Taft of the Ohio Supreme Court would name two additional judges to hear the case with him.

The three-judge panel will determine the degree of Lafferty's guilt and pass sentence after hearing evidence, Judge Davidson said.

Prince was slain March 20, 1962, when he attempted to investigate a car he thought looked suspicious.

LE Student Body Plans Scrap Drive

The Logan Elm student body is conducting a scrap drive Saturday morning to raise funds for the Carl S. Burger Memorial Trophy Case that is being planned by the students.

Persons with old scrap metal may either deliver it to the school or may call at the school for pick up service. Students and trucks will be available throughout the morning.

A group of students recently approached John Henn, Logan Elm school district coordinator, expressing a desire to conduct a memorial project honoring the late Carl Burger, first executive head of the district.

Because of the need for enlarged facilities to display school awards it was decided to dedicate a trophy case to Burger.

Marcus Brown, Otis Ballard Jr. was cashier.

From this organization sprang what is now known as The First National Bank of Circleville. In 1851, not long after the Pickaway County Savings Institute was organized, it was merged into the Pickaway County Bank, a corporation organized under an act of the legislature to authorize free banking, with capital stock of $200,000.

On Oct. 10, 1863, the Pickaway County Bank was reorganized as The First National Bank of Circleville, under the national banking laws. The capital was increased from $200,000 to $260,000.

THE ORIGINAL board of directors consisted of Noah S. Gregg, Samuel Rogers, Samuel H. Ruggles, James E. Rice, Hanson Rock and Dr. Marcus Brown.

This week, nearly a century later, the local financial institution is celebrating the grand opening of an entirely new building. The bank now has total assets of more than eight million dollars.

Teacher Tied To Probe of Pornography

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — The Geauga County sheriff today continued questioning two of three men arrested in connection with what he called a pornography ring. The third man has been charged and is free on bond.

Sheriff Louis A. Robusky said Monday night his investigation now involves several high school students, a teacher, disc jockey and may include others.

Robusky said a 17-year-old high school girl has admitted posing for nude photographs for the three men arrested. A bushel basket filled with what he called arty and lewd photographs were found in the Painesville home of one of the men, the sheriff said.

He said he has not yet questioned other high school students who appeared in some seized photographs.

Free on bond is Robert Welch, a Newbury Township disc jockey who was arrested last week, Robusky said. Welch was arraigned in County Juvenile Court on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The sheriff said Welch and the Chardon High School teacher took the photographs. A tip led to the arrests, Robusky said.

The teacher reportedly has resigned his high school post. School officials, however, declined comment pending the probe's completion.

Logan Deputy Sheriff Killed In Car Crash

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — William Claude Woodgeard, 54-year-old Hocking County sheriff's deputy, died in a high-speed auto crash late Monday while trying to head off two holdup suspects.

Authorities said Woodgeard's cruiser went out of control and tumbled into a ravine beside Ohio 216 about two miles south of the Hocking-Perry County line.

The officer was en route to the intersection of Ohio 216 and 78 at Murray City, where he planned to set up a roadblock and head off two men suspected in a robbery at a tavern at Buchtel, Athens County.

The Highway Patrol reported that the two men, arrested later at Chauncey, Athens County, probably passed the intersection about the time Woodgeard was killed. Edgar William Perkins, 38, of Rt. 1, Jackson, and Robert Ivan Lambert, 41, of Wellston were picked up at Chauncey by the patrol and local authorities.

Perkins and Lambert were taken to the Athens County Jail. The patrol said charges would be filed against the pair today after a conference with the county prosecutor.

The amount taken in the holdup at the Wayside Inn at Buchtel was not determined, but officers said Perkins and Lambert only had about $10 between them when they were arrested.

If, through such a sense of participation the allies developed a closer feeling of unity, the idea of a NATO nuclear force might be worthwhile. And that does seem to be about all there is to the idea.

If that's all it is—the Kennedy administration has been far from clear on any of this—the whole business could turn out to be little more than a gimmick for this reason:

Control of American nuclear weapons—the ability and decision to fire them—must remain in American hands, meaning the President's. That's exactly how it is now.

Before the idea could go further—letting allies equipped with American nuclear weapons make their own decisions about using them—Congress would have to change the law.

If you were one of the European allies—and the United States alone had control of the nuclear weapons which are the defense of Europe—you might be troubled by this idea, as some Europeans are.

Suppose in a European crisis with Russia the United States refused to get into a nuclear war if it meant backing up its allies. You might feel, as President de Gaulle of France does, that you'd want your own nuclear weapons.

But if every country had its own stockpile of nuclear bombs, in or out of the alliance, the chance of nuclear war, by accident or design, would be increased.

So what the United States is doing now—talking of the so-called NATO nuclear force—is an attempt to make the allies feel they have full American backing.

But in the end, under present law, the allies couldn't use the weapons.

Congress would hardly change the law—letting the allies make the decision on when and where to use American nuclear bombs—

Freedom Riders Granted Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ten Freedom Riders convicted of unlawful assembly in Tallahassee, Fla., have been granted a Supreme Court hearing.

The date for the hearing, to be set later, probably will not be until some time next fall.

The 10, including Negroes and whites, were fined $500 each on charges arising from their efforts to integrate a restaurant at Tallahassee's municipal airport. They were sentenced to 60 days in jail each if the fines were not paid.

The riders, most of them clergymen, were arrested June 16, 1961 during a sit-in at the airport restaurant. They testified the Tallahassee City Court that they had made a tour of Southern cities from Washington, D. C., to Tallahassee to test segregation.

Top Admiral Not Informed Of 'Sounds'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's top admiral did not learn of underwater sounds indicating death throes of the nuclear submarine Thresher until three days later—and then only from testimony in a Navy court.

This was disclosed by a Navy spokesman Monday when asked why Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations, had told reporters last Thursday that no unusual sounds had been heard indicating some accident might have happened to the Thresher.

Rear Adm. John S. McCain Jr., Navy chief of information, said Anderson "absolutely did not know of the sounds" picked up by the rescue vessel Skylark, which had been in underwater telephone contact with the Thresher when she disappeared Wednesday morning.

On Saturday, Lt. (J. G.) James D. Watson, navigator of the Skylark, testified before the Navy court of inquiry at Portsmouth, N.H., that the last sound to come from the Thresher was like "a ship breaking up—like a compartment collapsing."

But in the end, under present law, the allies couldn't use the weapons.

Congress would hardly change the law—letting the allies make the decision on when and where to use American nuclear bombs—without insisting the United States must retain some veto over allied use of its weapons.

It isn't hard to imagine the tortured arguments with the allies over this and the debates in Congress. But if the United States did have such a veto, then there'd be no difference from the present situation.

But if the United States had a veto over the use of the weapons, then each of the allies, at least the big ones, would probably insist on having a veto, too.

That creates a pretty picture: a decision to use nuclear weapons—if Russia started an attack—might be necessary in a matter of seconds or minutes at the most.

There wouldn't be much time for arguing about a veto. The Kennedy administration has left this whole idea of a NATO nuclear force in a fog. The longer the fog persists, the more certain it is to create skepticism.

The date for the hearing, to be set later, probably will not be until some time next fall.

The 10, including Negroes and whites, were fined $500 each on charges arising from their efforts to integrate a restaurant at Tallahassee's municipal airport. They were sentenced to 60 days in jail each if the fines were not paid.

The riders, most of them clergymen, were arrested June 16, 1961 during a sit-in at the airport restaurant. They testified the Tallahassee City Court that they had made a tour of Southern cities from Washington, D. C., to Tallahassee to test segregation.

Top Admiral Not Informed Of 'Sounds'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's top admiral did not learn of underwater sounds indicating death throes of the nuclear submarine Thresher until three days later—and then only from testimony in a Navy court.

This was disclosed by a Navy spokesman Monday when asked why Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations, had told reporters last Thursday that no unusual sounds had been heard indicating some accident might have happened to the Thresher.

Rear Adm. John S. McCain Jr., Navy chief of information, said Anderson "absolutely did not know of the sounds" picked up by the rescue vessel Skylark, which had been in underwater telephone contact with the Thresher when she disappeared Wednesday morning.

On Saturday, Lt. (J. G.) James D. Watson, navigator of the Skylark, testified before the Navy court of inquiry at Portsmouth, N.H., that the last sound to come from the Thresher was like "a ship breaking up — like a compartment collapsing."

Ewbank Ponders His 'Sick Cow'

New York Grid Jets Get New Head Coach

NEW YORK (AP)—"I've seen sicker cows than this get well," said Weeb Ewbank of his new charges, the New York Jets—new Titans—of the American Football League.

Ewbank, who turned a "sick cow" into a championship team at Baltimore and then was fired after a nine-year stay, became the coach and general manager of the re-named Jets Monday. The announcement was a formality for the story had leaked into the papers a day earlier.

The new owners of the Jets, a five-man group headed by Sonny Weblin, president of Music Corporation of America and a director of Monmouth Race Track, are attempting to wipe out the last reminder of the sad sack Titans. They bought the bankrupt club from Harry Wisner last month for $1 million. The signing of Ewbank to a three-year contract for a reported $100,000 was their first big move.

Ewbank, a chunky man of 55 years with an enthusiastic outlook on life, knows he faces many problems. He is aware that the old owners did not sign a single draft choice last fall. He also knows the club had a 5-9 record and finished last in its division.

The Colts fired Ewbank in January and replaced him with Don Shula. Weeb had two years to go on a contract reported to call for $30,000 per. He and owner Carroll Rosenbloom of the Colts agree they made an "amicable solution to their problems."

Ewbank said George Sauer, general manager of the Titans last year, was out looking for talent. He said he would interview candidates for assistant coaching jobs and hoped to line up a staff soon. Bulldog Turner, head coach in 1962, will be paid off. He has one year remaining on his contract.

"I hope this will be my last move," said Ewbank. "I hope to start a new era for the AFL here."

International Loop To Open Play with 5 Games Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International League, expanded to 10 teams for the first time since 1887, launches its 80th baseball season tonight with defending Champion Jacksonville and the veteran Toronto Maple Leafs regarded as favorites in the newly organized Southern and Northern division of the AAA league.

New entries for 1963 in the oldest minor league are Little Rock, which will perform as the Arkansas Travelers, and the Indianapolis Indians, winner of the 1962 American Association championship. IL expansion came about when the American Association folded and its members were absorbed into the International and Pacific Coast leagues.

First games feature Syracuse at Atlanta, Toronto at Jacksonville, Rochester at Little Rock, Buffalo at Indianapolis and Columbus at Richmond.

CIRCLEVILLE'S ALL-AMERICAN — Clesson Thomas, center, named to the High School All-American football team, received a plaque today presented by the "Coach and Athlete," a national magazine sponsor. Ohio Relays Due Saturday

25 Colleges Slated To Be Represented

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More than 900 athletes gather here Saturday for the state's top track attraction of the season—the Ohio Relays.

Some of the top cinder stars from more than 25 colleges and universities are expected to vie for honors.

Purdue's outstanding duo of Nate Adama of Cleveland and Al Washington headline the 100-yard dash. They are expected to get stiff competition from Michigan State's Bob Moreland, the Big Ten's 60-yard champ, among others.

Western Michigan's Alonzo Littlejohn heads up an impressive list of athletes in the high jump, and Ohio State's Paul Warfield is the man to beat in the broad jump. Warfield won last year's relays and is the Big Ten titlist.

The 3-mile run has such notables as Dick Sharkey, rated one of the best distance runner prospects that Michigan State has ever had and Andy Schram.

Ohio University's top quartet of Barry Sugden, Darnell Mitchell, Bill Heller and Bob Crooks is favored in the distance medley and 2-mile relay events.

A pair of Notre Dame stars, Pete Whitehouse and Jerry O'Connor, are top-rated in the 120-yard high hurdles.

A feature of the relays will be the 440-yard dash for girls with national champion Sue Knott of Columbus expected to defend her title.

On the agenda also are several events for high school performers and more than 25 schools will compete.

Al Lopez Jr., son of the Chicago White Sox manager, is captain of the University of Florida baseball team. He's a center fielder. His dad was a catcher.

Trojans Gain 8-3 Win over Williamsport

The Darby baseball team scored runs in the first, third, fifth and seventh innings yesterday defeating Williamsport 8-3 in non-league game at Darby.

Danny Bowen started the game for the Trojans, hurling three innings, but he needed relief help from John Rogers in the fourth.

Bowen fanned three, walked four, was touched for four hits and gave up two runs in his three inning stint.

Rogers had no strikeouts and walked three, but he effectively scattered four hits. Williamsport's seventh inning run when Rogers was on the mound was unearned.

Freshman Neil Coleman went all the way for the Deers, fanning four and walking six. The Trojans belted a total of 13 hits, including a double by Bowen.

Charlie Brown, collecting two singles in three trips to the plate had three RBIs for the winners.

Heavy hitters for the losers were Bruce Willis with two singles in four trips to the plate and Don Cook with a double and a single in three official at bats.

Byron Rose also pitched a double for the losers.

Wednesday Darby plays Bishop Ready and Thursday the Trojans meet the winner of the Monroe-Jackson game in Pickaway County tournament competition. Williamsport plays Logan Elm Thursday.

Relief pitcher Ryne Duren of the Log Angeles Angels made nine saves last season but had only one in the last half.

Cleveland Plans To Trim Its Squad

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians must cut a man from the roster today to make room for Jack Curtis, a southpaw pitcher placed on the roster Monday.

Curtis had been with the club, pitching batting practice only, since the season started, but he was officially on the roster of the Tribe's Jacksonville farm club.

Sam McDowell, who had trouble with control in the second game against Minnesota last week, will try for his first victory against Washington tonight.

Quarter Horse Races Slated At Matinee

Annual Harness Event Scheduled Sunday at Fairgrounds Track

Something new will be added to the Spring Harness Matinee which opens 1:30 p. m. Sunday at the Fairgrounds.

Two exhibition races of quarter horses have been scheduled. The short distance runners will stage 220 and 400 yard dashes.

An increased interest locally in quarter horse racing, a sport popularized in the western United States, has prompted race secretary John Fissell to add these animals to the race card.

Horsemen from a three-state area will enter in these exhibition races.

THE MATINEE is sponsored annually by the Pickaway County Agricultural Society and serves a dual purpose.

It allows harness horse trainers who have used the local track during the winter months to prep their charges for the summer race circuit, to exhibit their stables to county race enthusiasts.

It is also a fund raising project of the Agricultural Society. The fence built around the grandstand has been financed by money derived from the matinee.

Officials at the meet include George Hood, presiding judge, Robert Steele, and Robert Hunt, Columbus, associate judges.

Hood is the presiding judge at Scioto Downs during the race meet there and Steele is business manager of the Columbus oval.

The starting gate will be provided by Hank Butler of Waverly while Col. Willie Leist Circleville will handle the announcing chores.

CLERK of the matinee is Miss Sara Short of Circleville, and the outrider will be Mrs. Barbara Brumett of Ashville, riding Lady Debbie Delight.

Race secretary is John Fissell. The speed committee is composed of Ralph McDill, Wayne Martin and Harold Nagel all of Circleville.

Timers are Scott Radcliffe, Fred Mace and Steve Jones, all of Circleville.

Rain date for the matinee is April 28.

Ohio Turnpike Traffic Skyrockets in March

CLEVELAND (AP)—About 34,000 more vehicles traveled the Ohio Turnpike last month than in March 1962, the Turnpike Commission reports.

A total of 916,222 vehicles used the road last month—668,282 cars and 247,940 trucks—and $1,482,401 in tolls was paid. In the previous March, $1,431,443 was paid for 882,629 vehicles.

Hutch Puzzled By Weak Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP) — There won't be much change in the Cincinnati Reds lineup tonight. But if they lose a couple of games to the New York Mets, watch for fireworks.

That's the report by Manager Fred Hutchinson, whose team had a day off Monday after their fourth straight loss.

Hutchinson said he was puzzled by a couple of the Reds' recent losses because of the lack of scoring punch.

He picked Jim Maloney to start against the Mets tonight, opposed by righthander Jay Hook, a former Redleg.

The world's richest harness race in 1962 was the Messenger Stake at Roosevelt Raceway. The gross purse amounted to $169,430 with the winner, Thor Hanover, getting $84,715.

Chisox Happy With Wilhelm In Bullpen

CHICAGO (AP)—Probably the most comforting feeling a baseball manager can have is to press the alarm for a relief pitcher and have Hoyt Wilhelm trot out rain' to go like an old fire horse.

At Lopez of the Chicago White Sox is experiencing this glow now. Three times so far he has called on the 39-year-old flatter-ball specialist. And Wilhelm has responded with 10 innings of scoreless relief, yielding only two hits.

"I'd say our pitching is nearly 40 per cent stronger with Hoyt in the bullpen to save games," says Lopez. "He's worth more than a 20-game winner, and he works with so little effort that he probably can last as long as Satchel Paige."

Wilhelm, who came to the Sox as part of the package deal for Luis Aparicio and Al Smith, is unusual in that he has been throwing a so-called knuckleball all his life. As a kid from a cotton farm, he was baffling batters with it on the Cornelius, N.C., High School team.

"I grew up with it so my arm never hurts, and it doesn't take me long to get warmed up—maybe five to seven minutes," says Wilhelm, who was in 52 games for Baltimore last year with an amazing 1.94 earned run average in 93 innings.

Big, Strong American Team Heading for Pan-Am Games

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The biggest, if not the best, athletic contingent Uncle Sam has ever sent abroad, will start winging tonight for the fourth Pan American games in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Final processing of the 368 competitor array tabbed for the 21 sports in the April 20-May 5 games was completed only a few hours before the first of three chartered plane loads was to leave for Brazil.

Another plane, also carrying 147 athletes and officials, took off from Miami Wednesday night and the final same-sized batch, including the 40-member men's track and field squad, leaves Thursday night.

Since Monday morning, the 275 men and 93 women contestants have been reporting at the processing center in an oceanfront cleared, undergoing medical tests and receiving official team apparel.

In the last Pan-Am games, at Chicago in 1959, the United States forces grabbed 120 first places of a possible 163, and took 13 seconds and 53 thirds in 25 sports.

At Sao Paulo, the American medal-capturing pace is destined to slacken, mainly because the Pan-Am organizing committee has set a two entry limit for each individual event in the premier sports of track and swimming, instead of three.

Only one U.S. defending champion returns in track, hammer thrower Al Hall. But while lacking the luster of the squad America will send to the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo, this group again has the potency to win as it pleases at Pacaembu Stadium.

J. Lyman Bingham, executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said he saw no imprint of the long-standing AAU-NCAA feud in the caliber of this nation's Pan-American squad.

"We may not have the best squad possible, but it certainly is a strong one," said Bingham. "We have lost a number of collegiate performers, but mainly because of classroom pressures."

Pressure Up For Pro Cage Tournament

BOSTON (AP)—That unique pressure-cooker — playoff basketball—has calm Los Angeles Coach Fred Schaus fuming and fiery Red Auerbach of Boston praying as a pelude to tonight's second game in the National Basketball Association championship series.

The Celtics, seeking an unprecedented fifth straight title, went one-up in the best-of-7 set with a 117-114 victory Sunday night.

The Lakers are bent on reversing the 1962 finish when the Celtics edged them in overtime of the seventh and deciding contest.

While Los Angeles held a drill Monday, sports writer Bill McSweeney of the Boston Record-American reported Schaus flared: "Now I know why Ted Williams hated this town. You Boston sports writers are a bunch of homers. The town is bush."

McSweeney said he and Schaus clashed over a story McSweeney wrote about the accident in which rookie John Havlicek suffered an injured left ankle Sunday. McSweeney said Schaus told him Monday "you make it seem like I wanted him (Havlicek) hurt."

Though favored by the odd makers in the second game, the Celtics were cast in gloom over the loss of Havlicek, not only a standout defensive man and shooter but an inspirational hustler. Boston also worked out briefly. Auerbach was asked what his "Pray," was the answer.

Lavelli To Scout For Cleveland '11'

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns have added Dante Lavelli, former pass-receiving star, to their talent-hunting team. Lavelli, known as "Old Glue-fingers" when he starred for the National Football League club, was hired Monday to scout players in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

He will be an aide of Personnel Director Paul Bixler. Together they'll cover spring football practices at Ohio State, Ohio University, Miami, Dayton, Cincinnati, Xavier, Pittsburgh and West Virginia.

Pressure Up For Pro Cage Tournament

BOSTON (AP)—That unique pressure-cooker — playoff basketball — has calm Los Angeles Coach Fred Schaus fuming and fiery Red Auerbach of Boston praying as a pelhde to tonight's second game in the National Basketball Association championship series.

The Celtics, seeking an unprecedented fifth straight title, went one-up in the best-of-7 set with a 117-114 victory Sunday night.

The Lakers are bent on reversing the 1962 finish when the Celtics edged them in overtime of the seventh and deciding contest.

While Los Angeles held a drill Monday, sports writer Bill McSweeney of the Boston Record-American reported Schaus flared: "Now I know why Ted Williams hated this town. You Boston sports writers are a bunch of homers. The town is bush."

McSweeney said he and Schaus clashed over a story McSweeney wrote about the accident in which rookie John Havlicek suffered an injured left ankle Shnday. McSweeney said Schaus told him Monday "you make it seem like I wanted him (Havlicek) hurt."

Though favored by the odd makers in the second game, the Celtics were cast in gloom over the loss of Havlicek, not only a stand-out defensive man and shooter but an inspirational hustler.

Boston also worked out briefly. Auerbach was asked what his "Pray," was the answer.

Lavelli To Scout For Cleveland '11'

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns have added Dante Lavelli, former pass - receiving star, to their talent-hunting team.

Lavelli, known as "Old Glue-fingers" when he starred for the National Football League club, was hired Monday to scout players in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

He will be an aide of Personnel Director Paul Bixler. Together they'll cover spring football practices at Ohio State, Ohio University, Miami, Dayton, Cincinnati, Xavier, Pittsburgh and West Virginia.

DAYS GONE BY — This huge two-story building, constructed in 1877, was razed last spring to make way for the new ultra-modern facilities of the First National Bank. The clock on the corner was a landmark to Roundtown visitors for many years. During the demolition of the old building and construction of the new, temporary headquarters were maintained in the Crist Building in rooms formerly occupied by the C. J. Schneider Furniture Co. The local banking institution is observing a "bank warming" this week as part of its grand opening celebration.

Man Wanted By FBI Slips By in Parma

CLEVELAND (AP) — Robert James Walsh, arrested in suburban Parma last month on a drunk driving charge, left without the car in which he was arrested and never returned to come back for the vehicle after he was released on $250 bond.

Police found out why four days later. "Walsh" actually was Frank James (Machine Gun) Campbell, 52, wanted by the FBI for alleged violations of the federal anti-racketeering law.

An unwitting aid to Campbell in slipping through the fingers of the police was a candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor of Parma, Joseph A. Tal.

Tal said he knew "Bob Walsh" as a customer at a grocery store he operates on Ridge Road, and when "Walsh" telephone and asked him to arrange for a bondsman to bail him out, Tal did what he would have done for any customer.

Four days after "Walsh" got out on bond, the man's fingerprints, which had been sent to Washington for check, were identified as those of Campbell.

Ohio Shorthorn Jr. Field Day Set Saturday

The Ohio Shorthorn Junior Field Day will be Saturday at the Ohio State University, Columbus, it was announced today by Mrs. Paul W. Teegardin of Ashville who heads the Ohio Shorthorn Lasso publicity department.

The event is scheduled to begin at noon with registration at the Plumb Hall Arena on the OSU campus. Judging contest will begin at 12:30 p. m.

From 2 until 3 p. m. feeding, fitting and showing demonstrations will be presented. At 3 p. m. placings will be discussed.

The goal of the Ohio Shorthorn and Polled Shorthorn Breeders in planning the junior field day is to provide practice in cattle judging with adequate classes of animals. Professor George Wilson of the Ohio State animal science department will be in charge of the judging contests.

TROPHIES will be presented to the winning 4-H and FFA judging teams and the first, second and third individual boy and girl.

Another event planned by the Shorthorn Breeders is the first annual "Buy a calf — show a calf sale" project.

This event is currently scheduled October 5 at London where 100 choice steer calves and 50 choice heifer calves, all Shorthorns and all potential show ring winners, will be offered for sale.

As a follow-up of the fall calf sale a new type of annual spring event has also been blueprinted. The steers and heifers sold in the Oct. 5 sale will be shown by their new owners in a junior show which will become the focal point of the annual Ohio Shorthorn Junior Field Day.

Imogene Shuns Maid Role, Then Signs for 2 Others

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television comedienne Imogene Coca was once offered the role of a comedy maid in a Paramount movie.

"No, thanks, she answered 'Maids aren't funny.'"

Today she is playing Jack Lemmon's maid-housekeeper in "under the Yum Yum Tree." As soon as she finishes, she begins her new television series, "Grindl," in which she will play—a maid.

"Oh, well," she shrugs, "you can't always be right."

Miss Coca's own life seems akin to the wistful characters she has long played on television. Making her debut in a feature movie, she was bewildered by the erratic shooting schedule.

"I worked one day and then I wasn't called for 10 days," she related. "I got worried and thought perhaps I had done so poorly that they didn't want me back. I thought I would call the studio, but then I told myself, 'No, if they didn't want me any more, that would only embarrass them.' So I just waited."

Columbia finally called, of course, and she resumed her role in the film. It is her first feature, but not her first movie, she admitted.

Back in 1937, while she was appearing in her second "New Faces" show on Broadway, she was enlisted for a couple of comedy shorts.

Miss Coca's return to the film world came at the bequest of David Swift, director of "Under the Yum Yum Tree." It will serve as a break-in for the television series, which Swift created.

Does she really want to get back into the television grind again? "Oh yes," she said. "I don't mind working. And I like to have a place where I can work with people I know. When Sid (Caesar) and I did our television shows together, I didn't think of it as hard work. It was easy, because everybody knew each other, and you understood how they would react."

"I didn't like doing television specials because I would work with a different group of people every time. By the time I got acquainted and everyone got accustomed to working together, the show was over."

Imogene had a long run with Caesar, then tried a season with her own show, which she termed "a minor disaster."

Later she and Sid re-united for a season, but their former magic couldn't fit into the confines of half-hour. Since then, they have gone separate ways, and each has prospered.

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

FORD GALAXIE 500/XL SPORTS HARDTOP

YOU'LL KNOW WHY SHE DOESN'T FEEL THE BUMPS...WHEN YOU TEST-DRIVE FORD'S NEW '10,000,000 RIDE

The 1963 Ford gives you a ride every bit as smooth as cars costing hundreds more, and for two reasons: a revolutionary new suspension system . . . and added road-hugging weight.

It took ten million dollars to develop the new Ford ride. We designed a revolutionary new suspension system for the '63 Ford. Where ordinary suspensions move only up and down to absorb road shock, the Ford suspension moves backward as well. In this double-action suspension system, coil springs up front and leaf springs in the rear combine to give you firmness in cornering and a special smoothness over the road.

We added weight, strength and stability. The new Ford is now actually hundreds of pounds more car than any other car in its class. This remarkable weight advantage is in the suspension, frame, and body. And, as you know, this added weight means a more stable ride.

But a solid, road-smoothing ride is only part of Ford's total performance story for 1963. Look how Ford swept the field this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside and Atlanta 500's and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance—the best combination of strength, balance, precision control, braking power and road-clinging suspension—could roll up so many wins.

Before you buy any new car, test-drive a Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery—if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance . . . total performance.

FORD GALAXIE 500/XL SPORTS HARDTOP

YOU'LL KNOW WHY SHE DOESN'T FEEL THE BUMPS...WHEN YOU TEST-DRIVE FORD'S NEW $10,000,000 RIDE

The 1963 Ford gives you a ride every bit as smooth as cars costing hundreds more, and for two reasons: a revolutionary new suspension system . . . and added road-hugging weight.

It took ten million dollars to develop the new Ford ride. We designed a revolutionary new suspension system for the '63 Ford. Where ordinary suspensions move only up and down to absorb road shock, the Ford suspension moves backward as well. In this double-action suspension system, coil springs up front and leaf springs in the rear combine to give you firmness in cornering and a special smoothness over the road.

We added weight, strength and stability. The new Ford is now actually hundreds of pounds more car than any other car in its class. This remarkable weight advantage is in the suspension, frame, and body. And, as you know, this added weight means a more stable ride.

But a solid, road-smoothing ride is only part of Ford's total performance story for 1963. Look how Ford swept the field this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside and Atlanta 500's and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance—the best combination of strength, balance, precision control, braking power and road-clinging suspension—could roll up so many wins.

Before you buy any new car, test-drive a Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery—if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance . . . total performance.
